Flats plan threatens future of post office

THE future of Newmarket's only sub-post office is in doubt.

Owners of the building have applied for planning permission to convert it into five flats.

The Exning Road post office in Newmarket is the last remaining sub-post office in the town.

Post offices in New Cheveley Road and Valley Way offices were closed nearly four years ago.

But the loss of the Exning Road sub-post office is likely to be opposed by customers.

If the conversion plan is

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

approved and goes ahead it, will mean the town's main post office in the High Street will be the only one to remain open.

Tom Williams, a former town councillor who has previously campaigned against the closure of other sub-post offices in the town, said: "I feared this would come. It will be a sad day if it goes."

"The loss of the post office from villages and town is the loss of the English way of life."

Mr Williams, 87, of Windsor Road, Newmarket, added: "All us

Coun Bill Burch, Newmarket's mayor, said: "My personal view is that this would not be good for the people of Newmarket."

A spokeswoman for Royal Mail said the future of the post office was subject to a review of offices in the Cambridgeshire, Hertfordshire and Bedfordshire areas which is due to be published in July.

"I couldn't say whether it's on the list at this stage. Under normal circumstances we would look for a replacement post office."

"But if it appears on the list of those which are due for closure, then we would not replace it."

The future of the Exning Road post office was in doubt last year when an application for planning permission to convert the shop area into a Chinese takeaway was submitted.

The plan was rejected by the district council after people living nearby complained that a takeaway would increase problems of noise, traffic and litter.

Judy Law, who owns the building with her husband, said at the time that the post office would remain open.

She was not available for comment on the latest planning application.

A MONTHLY "naturally art" workshop resumed at the Lackford Lakes nature reserve, near Mildenhall, after the New Year.

Youngsters between the ages of five and 10 take part in the sessions held at the Suffolk Wildlife Trust reserve.

Children from the Mildenhall and Bury St Edmunds areas enjoy the two-hour art sessions, run by one of the trust's volunteers, which make use of the area's plants and birdlife as subjects for art projects.

Guided walks are also organised around the reserve for children and adults.

Horse cruelty protest set for London

A RACEHORSE agent is organising a demonstration in London to highlight his claims of cruelty to horses by an oil-rich Middle Eastern state.

Rick Dale said he was shocked by what he found when he went to the Sultanate of Oman last year to act as a racing expert for the ruler Sultan Qaboos.

Now he is mounting a campaign to draw attention to the plight of horses in the state and has produced banners – one of which is displayed on his house in Chestnut Close, Mildenhall, accusing the sultan of cruelty.

One of the banners has been displayed outside Ascot racecourse, and he plans to put up others at racecourses throughout the country.

He has also organised a demonstration, to take place on the morning of February 5 outside the Oman embassy in Kensington, London.

A police spokesman confirmed they had been contacted by Mr Dale about the protest and would be policing it appropriately.

Mr Dale, 47, is still waiting to be paid for the work he did in Oman – more than five months after he returned to Britain.

But he said: "This is not about the money – that is secondary. I morally could not sit back and let things happen."

"In Britain you could call in the RSPCA, but there is no organisation like that in Oman."

He said he complained to government officials in Oman that horses were being left out in 45-degree heat without food and water.

Photographs he took in Oman are posted on a website he has set up since returning to Britain www.sultanqaboos.co.uk

He said the website was getting around 30,000 hits a month.

Plans to reject luxury complex are welcomed

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

RESIDENTS opposing plans for a luxury retirement complex have welcomed a vote by councillors to reject the scheme.

People living in Balaton Place, Newmarket, are fighting plans for 36 retirement flats to be built on a paddock next to their homes.

Last year identical plans by the same company, English Courtyard Developments, were turned down by Forest Heath District Council planners on the grounds the scheme went against the policy of protecting Newmarket's horseracing industry.

Now the planners have changed their minds and have said the scheme is acceptable. Jockey Club Estates, which is responsible for the hundreds of acres of gallops and racehorse training grounds in the town, has said it does not object to the plan and has also said the paddock has not been directly used by the industry for more than 40 years.

But members of the district council's planning committee voted to indicate they intend to refuse planning permission. They are still concerned the scheme could breach the horseracing policy – as stated by the town council in its objection to the scheme.

The scheme will be reconsidered at the end of this month.

English Courtyard Developments have already lodged an appeal against the refusal of planning permission for the earlier scheme.

The appeal is due to be considered by a planning inspector in March.

Steve Elsom, chairman of the Balaton Place Management Company, said: "This is about safeguarding a paddock and stable block in a conservation area, where not only is the site protected under local plan policy, but also that there is a proven need for the facility to remain within the horseracing industry.

"Whilst we're not getting too carried away, the vote was very encouraging."

"We can't understand how an identical plan to the earlier one can now be recommended for approval by the planning officers when there has been no change in local planning policy."

"We have clearly demonstrated that there is a need for this paddock from within the racing industry and three trainers, including James Fanshawe, whose stables are next to it, have said there is a shortage of land for grazing in Newmarket."

Graffiti paints a poor image of town centre

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

STREET drinkers and graffiti vandals are causing a town to look run-down and neglected.

Town and district council workers are trying to tackle the problem, but the graffiti comes back almost as soon as it is cleaned off or painted out.

One resident has carried out her own clear-up of a private car park filling three bin bags with rubbish. She has now appealed for support from local authorities.

In a letter headed Newmarket – behind the façade, she told the town council about the “sad state of neglect of the lane and alleys off the High Street and behind the shops”.

Jan Cohen complained of broken glass and discarded beer cans left by gangs of youngsters who congregate in the New Cut footpath which links the High Street with Wellington Street near the market square.

The youngsters have threatened people who have asked them to move on, she said.

“The neglected appearance of the area makes it attractive to this sort of activity,” she added.

“This all adds up to a dismal view of the back end of what is a lovely town being spoiled. ‘Out of sight, out of mind’ seems to apply, as long as the High Street is clear.”

The back wall of January’s estate agents is regularly painted with graffiti.

A spokeswoman for the estate agents said: “The graffiti comes back as soon as we have it painted over. We have also had our cars damaged in the car park.

“We are looking at installing security cameras and lights. It’s not good for us or our clients and I really feel for the residents in the area.”

Coun Bill Burch, mayor of New-

■ UNHAPPY . . . Coun Bill Burch, inset, is concerned about the graffiti-covered walls off Newmarket High Street.

market, said: “Although cleaning the area is really the responsibility of Forest Heath District Council, the town clerk and I have been down to look at the area and agree that it is very poor.”

He said the town “keeper” – the council’s general handyman – had previously cleaned off graffiti in areas which were not strictly the council’s responsibility.

Coun Burch said Tim Robinson, the “keeper”, would now be instructed to use a weed sprayer, recently purchased by the council, to get rid of weeds growing in footpaths in the area which contribute to the “run-down” appearance.

Trapped motorist rescued

A MOTORIST trapped in his car was saved by other drivers who extinguished a fire which broke out before emergency services arrived.

The man, in his 60s and from Norfolk, was trapped by his foot after his Volvo car overturned into a ditch after a collision on the A1065 road near the Lakenheath American Air Force base.

A spokesman for the East of England Ambulance Service said the fire was extinguished by “passers-by” before the arrival of emergency services.

Firefighters cut the door of his car so that he could be removed after the crash which happened just before 6pm on Monday night. The road was closed for four hours while emergency services were at the scene.

The man was taken to Addenbrooke’s Hospital with a serious injury to his lower leg.

No-one else was injured in the collision which is reported to have involved two other cars and a motorcycle.

Anyone with information about the crash should call the Bury St Edmunds roads policing unit (01284) 774100.

Burglars drop their loot

BUNGLING burglars dropped cash they stole from charity boxes in a bakery shop.

The hooded thieves struck at Lanes Bakery in High Street, Burwell, by forcing a side door.

They emptied the cash out of five charity boxes but dropped a large amount of the cash in a garden in nearby Mill Lane.

The two thieves were wearing grey hooded tops, blue jeans and white training shoes. One was about 5ft 9in tall and was carrying a red crowbar. The other was about 6ft tall.

Anyone with information about the burglary, which happened between 2.45am and 3am last Friday, should call the crime and incident management unit at Parkside police station, Cambridge, on 0845 4564564 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555111.

Man in court on driving charges

A MAN has appeared in court charged with dangerous driving and failing to stop after an accident in which two men were injured.

Daniel Vickers, 32, appeared before magistrates in Ely on charges relating to an incident on the A142 at Fordham on July 28 last year, when it is alleged he drove a Jeep Cherokee dangerously.

Mr Vickers, of Friday Street, West Row, is charged with destroying by fire a Jeep Cherokee belonging to Peter Crotty on the same date and with driving the vehicle while above the drink-driving limit.

He is also charged with driving without insurance on the same date, driving without the correct licence and making false representations to obtain fuel at Soham.

No pleas were entered.

Magistrates said the case must go to crown court and adjourned for a committal hearing later this month.

Police seek raider

SILVER, jewellery and antiques have been stolen in a series of house burglaries in Cambridgeshire villages near Newmarket.

During December there were five burglaries in Cheveley, two in Stetchworth, two in Brinkley and two in Dullingham.

They are all thought to be the work of the same thief who was seen getting into a silver-coloured Nissan Primera car with stolen number plates EX54 OLC.

He is described as a “stocky” white man about 6ft 3in tall in his late 30s. He was wearing dark clothing.

He got into houses through doors and windows.

Anyone with information should call Cambridgeshire police 0845 4564564 or Crimestoppers 0800 555111.

Festive drink-drive figures down

FEWER motorists were caught drink driving in Suffolk during the Christmas and New Year period – according to figures just released by the county police.

During a month-long campaign which started on December

1, Suffolk officers gave 3,069 breath tests of which 94 were positive. The results show that 3.06 per cent of motorists tested were over the drink-drive limit.

In the same period the previous year police conducted

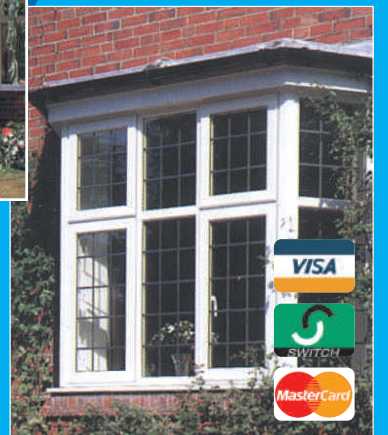

2,283 breath tests with 101 – 4.42 per cent – over the limit.

The results showed that fewer young people were caught drink-driving.

Of those caught this year, 28 were under 25.

Tommy gets lines – and lands himself in trouble

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@
newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

A BOY'S "extreme" haircut has landed him in trouble at school – and his mum blames the barber.

Tommy Stevens, 12, was sent by his mum to have a haircut in Newmarket for the start of the new school term.

But when he returned to his home at Lode Road, Bottisham, he was almost in tears because he knew the patterns cut in his hair would get him in trouble.

His mum, Pauline Stevens, 43, said: "I have to say it's a work of art. But I got on the phone straight away to the barber at Celik's Mensroom in Newmarket High Street and said: 'Where's your commitment to responsibility in allowing a 12-year-old boy to come out looking like some Aztec or Mohican warrior?'"

Mrs Stevens, who is due to have an operation at Addenbrooke's Hospital this week for bowel cancer, met the principal at Bottisham Village College, Kate Evans, to make a plea for Tommy not to be excluded because of the £18.50 haircut.

Tommy had to stay in school throughout the lunch hour on Monday and will face disciplinary action.

Mrs Stevens said Mrs Evans told her that the only reason Tommy had not been sent home was the impending operation, and because the only immediate way to "improve" his appearance would be to shave his head completely.

"Mrs Evans has tried to be as understanding as she can be of our family's circumstances," said Mrs Stevens, who has three other sons.

"Tommy didn't do this on purpose and I feel he is the victim in this. He is having to be made an example of to show that it isn't acceptable to come to school with hair like this."

Mrs Evans said: "We are quite clear in our uniform code that extreme haircuts are not acceptable. But we are mindful of the family circumstances and have gone to great lengths to work with Mrs Stevens and the family."

She added such haircuts had no place in school and Tommy had to face some consequences as a result.

Bulent Celik, the salon owner, said: "I don't believe we did anything wrong. The boy asked for lines in his hair."

"If his mother wanted him to have a certain haircut then she should have come in with him."

"If we had convinced him to have this cut, then we would do something about it. But we didn't. He asked for a number two sides and back and some lines."

Hospital report goes to the top

AN independent report into plans to change health services in West Suffolk, including Newmarket, have been submitted to the Secretary of State for Health Alan Johnson.

The proposals, which include permanently providing more beds at Newmarket Hospital, were referred to the Secretary of State by Suffolk's health scrutiny committee.

Although the proposals for Newmarket Hospital have been welcomed, they are linked with the closure of two hospitals in Sudbury which is being opposed.

The Independent Reconfiguration Panel (IRP) has compiled a report for the Secretary of State. He will announce his decision on the proposals after studying the report.

Dr Peter Barrett, who chairs the IRP, said: "Our job is to provide recommendations to the Secretary of State that will offer local people access to safe, sustainable and accessible healthcare services. Our key focus throughout the review has been the patient and the quality of care."

The final decision on changes to services in the area will be made by Mr Johnson. The IRP will publish the full report on its website in a month.

Children cower in terror as drunk dad rams home

BY John Morgan

Timothy Grooms was more than double the drink-drive limit when he drove his car into his housing association home in Thirlwall Drive, Fordham, after arguing with his partner.

Police found two of his terrified children inside hiding behind a sofa, magistrates in Ely heard.

The court was told that Grooms, 42, said at the scene: "I don't give a * about the kids, and I don't give a * about Christmas."

Grooms caused £900 worth of damage to the front door, window and brickwork of the house, which is owned by Sanctuary Hereward.

He pleaded guilty to a charge of drink driving and a charge of criminal damage.

Harvey Harrison, chairman of the bench, said: "You seemed to use the car as a battering ram."

Magistrates adjourned the case so the probation service can compile a report on Grooms, who was given a conditional discharge for a previous offence in 2006. He was given an interim driving ban.

Emma Dmitriev, prosecuting, told magistrates there had been an argument between Grooms and his partner on December 16.

Mrs Dmitriev said he drove his car into the side of the house before a neighbour saw him "reverse up the driveway and do it again".

She added: "Police noted the defendant's two children, who were in the property, were terrified. They were found cowering behind the sofa."

Grooms was found to have 78 microgrammes of alcohol in 100 millilitres of breath. The legal limit is 35.

Adam Haselhurst, mitigating, said: "As far as the collision is concerned, that is not something he can recall particularly clearly.

"He describes himself as being in a confused state as to where he was, which is probably one of the factors which caused damage to the house.

"It wasn't the case that my client committed the offence 'at his partner'."

'Heat is on' for farmers

FARMERS and land managers will be given tips on ways of capitalising on climate change.

A special day of seminars, which will include 40 trade stands, is being staged at the conference centre in the Millennium Grandstand at Newmarket's Rowley Mile Racecourse on Wednesday, January 16, under the banner of "The heat is on".

Experts will discuss a wide range of issues including how carbon management, optimising water use and creating clean energy can enable the farm to adapt to climate change as well as being of financial benefit.

Dr Mary Dimambro, conference organiser for Natural England, said: "This is a unique opportunity for farmers and land managers to gain an insight into adapting to climate change without it costing the earth."

The trade exhibition will span two floors, and will include wood fuel boilers, wind turbines, composting and biogas systems, water collection and reuse systems, irrigation technologies and low carbon building materials.

The event is being funded by Natural England and the Environment Agency in partnership with the Country Land and Business Association, East of England Development Agency, National Farmers' Union, Renewables East, and The Forestry Commission.

For further information and booking form contact www.naturalengland.org.uk/regions/east/theheatison.htm, or call (01223) 533477 or 533607. E-mail: amber.taylor@naturalengland.org.uk

Spotlight on housing

HOUSE price inflation will continue to be above average until 2012 in the East of England, according to experts due to address a conference in Newmarket next week.

Home Truths - East of England - The real cost of housing 2007-2012 is the title of the conference, organised by the National Housing Federation, due to be held at the town's Rowley Mile Racecourse on Thursday, January 17.

The demand for housing in the region and the impact on local people will be revealed in a report showing housing needs according to local council areas.

Flights boost for area

A HOTEL is hoping that increased air services will lead to a rise in the number of guests from the United States.

Noel Byrne, boss of the four-star Bedford Lodge Hotel in Newmarket, has predicted that when American Airlines begin their twice-daily services to Stansted in April it will be a big boost to tourism in the region.

Mr Byrne, managing director of the Bury Road hotel, said: "American Airlines will be doubling their service between New York's JFK Airport and Stansted, which is fantastic news for the local tourist industry.

"At Bedford Lodge we welcome a lot of visitors from the United States and given the proximity of Stansted to Newmarket we believe this will have a significant impact on the numbers of business and leisure visitors who visit us from the US."

The hotel has 55 bedrooms and suites which underwent a half-million pound refurbishment last year. A new spa is also planned.

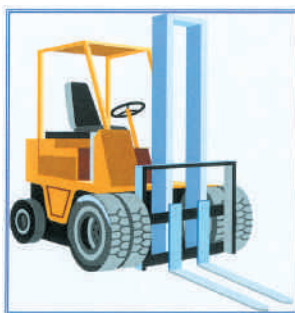

Mr Byrne, who is also chairman of the Tourism Business Action Group in Suffolk and vice-chairman of the Suffolk Tourism Partnership, said: "Although statistics show the numbers of visitors from the US slightly dropped during 2007, Suffolk is still a popular destination for American visitors.

"This news from American Airlines is a big boost to us and for tourism in East Anglia."

WEEKLY NEWS Letters

THE Newmarket Weekly News welcomes your views. Write to: Readers Letters, Newmarket Weekly News, 15 High Street, Newmarket, CB8 8LX or send an e-mail to editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk Please be as concise as possible and attach your full name, address and telephone number.

New bus shelter is an eyesore

Sir, With reference to your article on the front page of the Weekly News (December 27), where the mayor of Newmarket, Coun Burch, was pictured celebrating four new bus shelters erected before Christmas.

I am not at all happy with the positioning of the one in Norfolk Avenue, which is approximately three feet from my boundary and can be seen two feet high above my fence – a complete eyesore.

I have been treated disrespectfully by the lack of consultation by Coun Burch and the town clerk with regards to the placing of the shelter, which has effectively been moved from one side of our drive to the other, closer to a busy corner.

It now blocks our view when leaving the property, and is dangerous. I am also concerned that a stationary bus close to a busy T-junction is an accident waiting to happen.

I contacted Coun Burch the day the excavator arrived and I first found out the exact position of the shelter, and requested that he visit the site to discuss the problems, but he has never done so, and my following letter has been ignored.

The other three shelters are all in open spaces, not overlooking any residents.

He didn't have his photograph taken by the Norfolk Avenue shelter, did he?

But, well done, he got them up in time for Christmas and his New Year address to the people of Newmarket!

Mrs J Harper
Elizabeth Avenue
Newmarket

■ Coun Burch replies: "I'm sorry some people have been upset by the siting of the bus shelter. But you can't please everyone.

"I've actually had my hand shaken by about six people who thanked us for the new bus shelters which they said had been needed for years.

"We consulted Suffolk County Council highways before installing the shelters and they had no problems with the positions which were eventually chosen."

Overpopulation is damaging our lives

Sir, Councillor Keith Walters proudly boasts "we've got the fastest growing county in the nation".

Unfortunately he doesn't understand that it is this mad rush to build an empire that is causing the trouble.

This over-population is why Council Tax (that most unfair of authorised theft) has become so high. This is why developers are wrecking the glorious countryside with more houses. This is why more and more roads are failing to deal with the traffic jams. This is why almost all services are over-stretched. This is why living in Cambridgeshire becomes less attractive every day.

It's a shame that people like Coun Walters don't want to concentrate on doing the job for which they have been elected - that is, preserving and enhancing the well-being of long-term East Anglian families like my own. Instead, they damage our lives through their expansion schemes.

Fortunately, as I'm in my eightieth year, the chances of my having to put up with such idiocy much longer are remote.

Raid on home

TELEVISIONS, computers, a camera and stereo equipment were stolen in a house burglary.

The thieves also took a large black suitcase which is thought to have been used to help take away the property from the house in New Cheveley Road, Newmarket.

The burglary happened between 7.20am and 7.25pm on Thursday, January 3, and anyone with information should call Detective Constable Deborah Watson at Mildenhall CID on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Anyone with information about the incidents should contact community police officer Jonathon Hall of Cambridgeshire police on 0845 4564564 or Crimestoppers 0800 555111.

‘Astounding’ £50k gift for going green

A VILLAGE’S plans for a new pavilion and meeting room have been boosted with a £50,000 grant from the environmental group WREN.

The donation amounts to a quarter of the £200,000 cost of the building planned at Lode. The village has now got, or has been promised, about £180,000 towards it.

The grant was increased to the maximum from the £30,000 the village had applied for because the new building is due to include “green” features, including a heat pump, rainwater harvesting system, sustainable lighting and a high proportion of recycled or reclaimed building materials. Alan Lamb, chairman of Lode Parish Council, said: “This news from WREN is absolutely fantastic.

“We have a tremendous opportunity to showcase how environmental issues can be addressed economically in small developments.

“To receive more funding than we requested is astounding, and will really help us to achieve our aim.”

Children’s play areas at Haslingfield and Whittlesford, and another community pavilion at Oakington also received grants from WREN.

Couple ready to celebrate diamond day

A MARRIAGE is still thriving after 60 years – and the secret is seeing things from the other point of view.

Ronald and Maudie Manning, who live in Soham, celebrate their diamond wedding anniversary on January 17.

The Soham born-and-bred couple, who both served with the Royal Navy during Second World War, met at a concert on the town's recreation ground before marrying at St Andrew's Church in 1948.

Mr Manning, 84, and Mrs Manning, 82, will celebrate at a party with 100 guests, including daughter Dianne and their two grandsons.

Mrs Manning believes the key to a happy marriage is understanding. She said: "Give and take, that is the main thing. Seeing the other point of view, as well as your own."

Mrs Manning added that there have been occasional "differences of opinion" during the marriage, but never arguments.

After the war, Mr Manning worked as an engineer with the Post Office, while Mrs Manning worked in a laboratory at a sugar beet factory.

■ WELL DONE . . . children and staff at Laureate primary school in Newmarket celebrating their good Ofsted report. Headteacher Olive Millington is pictured in the front.

Picture: Keith Jones 454408.

Praise for school's community focus

A SCHOOL is celebrating good marks from Government inspectors who also gave an outstanding mark for its community involvement.

Laureate Primary School in Exning Road, Newmarket, was rated "good" overall by inspectors from Ofsted, the Office for Standards in Education.

Olive Millington, the headteacher of the 140-pupil school, said: "We're very pleased. Everybody worked very hard. It's a fair mark."

The school was given top marks for the contribution made to the community, particularly its involvement with Newmarket in Bloom through the creation of wildlife garden at the school.

But the inspectors said standards achieved by pupils should be improved from the "satisfactory" rating.

They suggested that focus on improving pupils' vocabulary should be maintained to help raise their writing standards.

The inspectors also called for more emphasis on Britain's cultural diversity in lessons.

All other areas of the school's performance were given a grade 2 "good" rating.

The inspectors also praised the school's work with pupils with learning difficulties and disabilities.

They said that many pupils enter the school with lower levels of attainment, but they leave the school after making good progress.

"These strengths taken together mean that many pupils with learning difficulties make very good progress," said the Ofsted report.

"For some of them, it is such that by the time they leave, they no longer need support and reach expected levels for their age."

Handbag theft

AN elderly woman's handbag was stolen by an intruder she confronted in her home.

The pensioner, who is in her eighties, was left shaken but unhurt by the incident which happened after the thief got in through an unlocked door. He demanded cash and took her hand bag.

The incident happened at the woman's home in Eriswell Road, Lakenheath, between 5.45pm and 5.55pm on Friday, December 28.

The bag was later found at the junction of the nearby B1112 and A1065 with all the cash missing.

The thief is described as a white man in his early 20s, 5ft 11in tall and slim with black hair. He was wearing white or blue trainers and a navy-coloured anorak.

Anyone with information about the incident should call Det Cons Rachel Francis at Mildenhall CID (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers 0800 555111.

Residents' joy as plans face refusal

RESIDENTS opposing plans for a giant factory near their homes were jubilant when councillors said they intended to refuse planning permission.

People living in Vincent Close, on Newmarket's Studlands Park estate, have been fighting the plans since August when builders bulldozed trees on the site – and broke an agreement with district council planners.

Work on the factory, which will back onto Studlands Park Avenue although it will be reached through Oaks Drive, was halted and the developers were asked to make a new application for planning permission.

Permission was originally granted in 2005 by Forest Heath District Council, but work should not have started until the council had agreed a landscaping scheme.

Now CI Industries, owners of the land where

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@
newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

the factory is due to be built, have been told their revised plans for the factory are likely to be rejected.

The company has changed the siting of 200ft long factory unit so it will be further from bungalows in Vincent Close. The company is also proposing an 8ft fence with planting in front of it.

Council planning officers said the revised scheme was acceptable and recommended that permission should be granted.

But residents are still opposed to the factory, which they say will overshadow their homes. They are also concerned that there is no restriction on the type of business that will be able to use the building.

Planners suggested a restriction on delivery and loading and unloading times should be imposed, but the residents are worried the unit could operate 24-hours, seven days a week.

Members of the district council's planning committee agreed with the residents and voted to show their intention to refuse planning permission when the scheme is reconsidered on January 30.

Christine Pearce, who lives in Vincent Close and spoke on behalf of residents at the planning committee, said: "We're jubilant."

"My personal feeling is that the building is far too big and should not be for general industrial use. If it is operating 24-7 the noise will just ricochet around our bungalows and the garage courts."

"It will be 32ft high and will mean that we will just be looking at a blank wall. It would be just 20 paces from our bungalow."

"This has just taken over our lives. Hopefully we are just on the last hurdle."

Shocking collapse after dream trip

BY John Goode

newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

TRIBUTES have been paid to a former council chairman who died suddenly at home.

Don Levick, who chaired Forest Heath District Council in 2003/04, was also a member of Suffolk County Council representing the Newmarket and Exning areas for eight years.

Mr Levick, 77, called an ambulance after feeling unwell at his home in Windsor Road, Newmarket, in the early hours of January 2. He was taken to West Suffolk Hospital, Bury St Edmunds, but he had already died.

Coun Geoffrey Jaggard, leader of the district council and David Burnip, its chief executive, said in a joint tribute: "Don was rarely seen without a smile on his face and he enlivened meetings with his witty and erudite comments. We will remember him as a jovial man, but one who took his community work very seriously."

"He thoroughly enjoyed meeting new people and making friends across the district and the county as a whole."

"He was a hard-working local councillor and served on many of the district council's commmittees, including corporate services, overview and scrutiny and planning, where he took particular care to represent the views of his ward residents.

"He will be greatly missed by all those members and officers with whom he worked and by the community which he served so well."

Mr Levick resigned from the Conservative party in 2005. He continued as an independent member of the district council, but he did not seek re-election last year.

His daughter Nicky Briggs said his death had come as a shock.

"He had just been to the Antarctic on a holiday he had been planning for years," she said.

"When we collected him from Heathrow he looked wonderful. We have taken some comfort from the fact that he did something he had always wanted to do."

Mr Levick, originally from Retford, Nottinghamshire, served in the Royal Navy for 25 years achieving the rank of Chief Petty Officer.

After his naval service he worked on the tracked hovercraft project in the 1970s and later spent 20 years working for British Aerospace at Stevenage.

He moved to Newmarket when he married his second wife Jean, who was a midwife at the town's hospital. She died four years ago.

As well as Mrs Briggs, he is survived by son Christopher Levick and younger daughter Jo Drewry and six grandchildren.

His funeral will be held on Tuesday, January 15, at 3.30pm at St Mary's Church, Newmarket, followed by cremation at Bury St Edmunds Crematorium. Mourners are being invited to Newmarket Conservative Club after the ceremonies.

His family have asked for donations to the Royal National Lifeboat Institution to be made through funeral directors Southgate of Newmarket.

Car stolen

A CAR stolen from West Row, near Mildenhall, was later found abandoned in the Ely area.

The silver-coloured Mercedes coupe was stolen when thieves broke into a house in Church Road, West Row, and took a handbag containing the car keys.

The car was later found on the B1381 near the village of Sutton.

Anyone with information about the incident, which happened between 12.30am and 1.55am on Thursday, January 3, should call Det Cons Rachel Francis at Mildenhall CID on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Funding crisis hits free travel scheme

PENSIONERS are being short-changed on the buses yet again after measly government funding left the scheme £1 million short.

Over-60s and the disabled can travel on buses free across the country from April 1, but just £2.2 million of funding has been provided for Cambridgeshire and Peterborough even though £3.1 million is needed to pay for the venture.

matter where passengers come from.

Cambridge City Council has been hit particularly badly. It will receive just £648,000 this year, despite the large number of tourists likely to take advantage of free travel, compared to the £1,452,000 bosses estimated they need.

Cambridge City Council has already had to find more than £500,000 to plug the shortfall for local free travel, and councillors fear the lack of funding could mean budgets for other essential services could be slashed.

From April 1, the council will have to pay for every bus-pass holder who visits the city.

Coun Sian Reid, executive councillor for climate change and growth, said she was delighted people were using buses, but the Government should have thought the scheme through properly.

She said: "We asked for £1.4 million and we've got £684,000. It's also going to be hard for us to forecast what the service is going to cost us. There's a lot of uncertainty.

"The scheme has very good intentions, but it's tremendously ill-considered. We are spending the best part of £1 million on it now out of an annual budget of £17 million. It's a huge burden on us with inadequate funding from the Government."

Campaign group Cambridge Older People's Enterprise (COPE) said it was ready to fight again to make sure pensioners got the funding needed for free travel.

Robert Boorman, treasurer, said: "COPE has no intention of standing back. The scheme has proved to be hugely successful and a large number of members of COPE, and others, are making use of it."

Cambridgeshire County Council, which does not receive any funding for concessionary bus fares, stepped in last time with £600,000 to stem the funding gap enabling county-wide free travel.

Coun Mac McGuire, lead member for highways and transport, said: "While no local authority is ever happy with the grants they receive, the county council believes Cambridgeshire has been badly short-changed in the settlement outlined by the Department of Transport."

Coun John Seaman, chairman of East Cambridgeshire District Council's environment and transport committee, said: "Time and again it seems that those in London seem to forget that we cannot exist on a shoestring."

South Cambridgeshire District Council will receive £34,000 less than it estimated. A spokeswoman said: "We are very disappointed with the decision to give us less money for concessionary bus fares than we requested."

■ HARD FOUGHT . . . pensioners worked with our sister paper, the Cambridge News on the Buses campaign to get free travel in 2006. Left, inset, MP Andrew Lansley.

Cambridgeshire's MPs are to raise the issue in Parliament.

Jim Paice, who represents South East Cambridgeshire, and Andrew Lansley, MP for South Cambridgeshire, said they were "disappointed" but not surprised the Government had failed to fund the scheme once again.

Mr Paice said: "It's completely unacceptable but only what I would expect, the Government is so completely incompetent and desperately short of cash. Having splashed it out in the early years it is cutting everything left right and centre. What money there is available is being spent in Labour areas, and Cambridgeshire is not one of them."

Mr Lansley said: "It seems from a Government point of view to have been badly managed from start to finish. It only seems to be the work done by John Reynolds and the county council and other councils that made it happen this year at all.

"I'm sure MPs in Cambridgeshire will raise this. We should have in the New Year, early on, a debate about local government funding anyway. I hope to follow it up in that."

A spokesman for the Department of Transport said it did not take authorities' own estimates of the costs of the scheme into account when allocating funding.

He said: "The Government is confident that the £212m to be allocated to local authorities to fund the improved concession is sufficient."

■ OPPOSITION . . . owner-occupiers are against plans to demolish houses in Charles Close to make way for new housing. Picture: Richard Marsham 454414.

£3.1m new homes plans put on hold

PLANS for a £3.1 million redevelopment of a housing estate have been put on hold after councillors asked for more information.

People who have bought former council houses in Charles Close, Newmarket, are concerned that the development of other homes, now owned by a housing association, could cause disruption and leave them isolated.

Kings Forest Housing, which owns most of the homes, has applied for planning permission to knock down four houses and 16 flats and replace them with 27 new homes.

The scheme is being opposed by Newmarket Town Council as well as owner-occupiers who have complained that they were not fully consulted by the housing association.

The town council branded the scheme an "overdevelopment" of the area while the residents left in the street were worried that they would have around two years of disruption while the building work was carried out.

Forest Heath District Council planners had recommended the scheme for approval and said it was a "significant improvement" on the existing area.

But councillors have asked for more information before deciding whether to grant planning permission. They deferred a decision until a planning committee meeting on Wednesday, January 30.

award and the award for innovative use of technology.

Other winners were Atkinson Bolton Consulting, which received the community engagement and health and safety awards, Twin Dots received the new business of the year and entrepreneurial spirit awards, Chemtest received the large business award and was highly commended in the overall judges' award, Factotum

Ltd received the employee development award, Bliss Hair and Beauty were named retailer of the year, Convergence Communications was small business of the year and highly commended awards went to JRD Rubber Mouldings and Lara B bridal wear.

The presentation night was held at the Millennium Grandstand at Newmarket racecourse.

Lectures for equine world

Stable talk

In our weekly column, reporter JOHN GOODE takes a look behind the racing scene to bring you news from in and around the stables.

A SERIES of lectures on horse breeding are to be held at the National Stud in Newmarket.

Insurance brokers Lycetts will be sponsoring the evening lectures, open to students and the public, to be held between February and July.

The lectures will be given by experts in their fields and topics include the veterinary management of breeding stock, equine behaviour, farriery and current issues of concern within the Thoroughbred breeding industry.

Lycetts Hamilton, the broker's bloodstock division, will be sponsoring the lectures.

Charles Hamilton, managing director, said: "We have worked with the National Stud for a number of years and welcome the prospect of supporting them in this aspect of their much valued educational work."

"We believe these lectures provide a wonderful way for people connected not just to the world of bloodstock, but to the equine world in general, to learn from the best in the business. This objective fits perfectly with what Lycetts is all about."

Anyone interested in attending the lectures should contact leaya.dodson@nationalstud.co.uk

Top names come out to play for another big year

By Nik Shelton

THERE'S another packed year of arts, theatre, music and comedy lined up at venues in Cambridge in 2008.

Whether it's loud guitars, gentle harmonies, heartbreaking drama or a good laugh you're after, there's something for everyone in the coming 12 months. Here's our pick of 10 of the best.

■ Band Competition relaunch: April 10-May 9. The Graduate and Cambridge Corn Exchange

The Cambridge Band competition is always a controversial affair. Reviled by some, supported by others – it's certainly never boring. After several years at The Junction, a bigger and better competition is now being relaunched at the Corn Exchange for the first time in many years.

Rockers, folkies, hip hoppers and everything in between will be thrown into the mix for the four heats which will be held at The Graduate on Mitcham's Corner each Thursday from April 10 to May 3 before the grand finale at the Corn Exchange on May 9.

■ Waterson:Carthy: March 4. The Graduate

There're few English folk acts more respected than Waterson:Carthy. As much a dynasty as a group, Waterson:Carthy features influential traditional guitarist and former Steeleye Span member, Martin Carthy, his wife Norma Waterson and their daughter Eliza Carthy.

■ Gary Numan: March 11. The Junction

For many, Gary Numan typifies the electronic soundscape of the 1980s, although in fact his two biggest hits – Are Friends Electric and Cars – were recorded at the tail end of the 70s. His cold, sparse sound and common themes of alienation were hugely influential on New Wave and New Romantic music in the 80s and later bands such as Nine Inch Nails and Ministry in the 1990s. His latest tour will see him performing his classic 1979 album Replicas in its entirety.

■ Tim Vine: May 22. The Junction

He may be known to many for his hit and miss BBC sitcom, Not Going Out alongside Lee Mack, but Tim Vine is probably the world's best pun writer. A master of one liners and quick fire word play, he holds the current world record for the most number of jokes – 499 – told in an hour.

■ Sugababes: April 8. Cambridge Corn Exchange

The Sugababes may have a line-up as changeable as the British weather but they've racked up some of the biggest chart hits in recent years. They've had 20 singles (six of which have hit number one), five albums and been crowned the most successful UK girl group of the decade.

■ Marti Pellow: April 25. Cambridge Corn Exchange

Glaswegian Marti Pellow first found fame with 80s pop act Wet Wet Wet before fame went to his head and the band crumbled under the pressure of his drug addiction. He later embarked on a solo career and the band eventually put their differences aside for a reunion tour.

His return to mainstream success was sealed when he won the BBC1 show Just the Two of Us alongside actress Hannah Waterman.

■ Cambridge Philharmonic, Mahler's Symphony No 2: June 7. King's College Chapel

There're few pieces of music bigger than Mahler 2 and the Cambridge Phil's director Tim Redmond has got a big job on his hands putting it on in one of the world's most famous chapels.

■ Into the Woods: March 11 -

22. ADC Theatre

The ADC's big spring musical is the Stephen Sondheim modern classic, Into the Woods.

Before Shrek took the concept and ran with it, Into the Woods garnered rave reviews and a shelf full of awards by pilfering Grimm stories to create an entirely new one.

Little Red Riding Hood, Cinderella, Rapunzel, Sleeping Beauty and many other well known names crop up as the tale winds some timeless stories together along with a hugely popular score courtesy of the finest acting and musical talent Cambridge University has to offer.

■ Equus: March 10-15. Cambridge Arts Theatre

Made famous on the West End when Harry Potter star Daniel Radcliffe stripped off to play the lead role of a damaged young man who's dangerously obsessed with horses, this critically-acclaimed play is now on a tour of the UK with a new cast.

Simon Callow stars alongside Alfie Allen in the lead role, an actor recently seen in the film adaptation of Ian McEwan's book Atonement.

■ George's Marvellous Medicine: April 8-12. Cambridge Arts Theatre

This show is shaping up to be one of the children's theatre highlights of 2008. The Birmingham Stage Company has made a name for itself adapting the works of the nation's favourite children's writer Roald Dahl.

Every child knows the story of the young boy George who tries to create a magic potion which has some strange and wonderful side effects.

Jackson-Stops & Staff awarded prestigious title

JACKSON-STOPS & Staff have been awarded the title of Best Estate Agent in Suffolk at the Daily Mail Property Awards.

The prestigious awards, which were held in London recently, are part of a global property competition which aims to distinguish the highest levels of excellence in property.

Chairman of the judging panel was Eric Pickles MP, shadow secretary of state. Others on the panel included journalists, TV personality and property expert Phil Spencer, and Peter Bolton King, chief executive of the National Association of Estate Agents.

Philip Gilbey of Jackson-Stops & Staff said: "We are delighted to have received this award, which reflects the high levels of service Jackson-Stops & Staff offers its clients."

Stuart Shield, who organised the awards, said: "What's unique about these awards is that we first seek the best from each county and then we identify the best in the country from those winners. We take those and reassess the UK's best with the best property countries from around the world.

"This makes the competition very popular among companies as it not only gives excellence a chance to be identified at county level but also right the way through country to worldwide level."

It's a great time to buy!

CAR dealers are set to slash £600 million off the price of new vehicles throughout January after being left with a record number of models on their forecourts.

And with a fifth of people in the UK (19 per cent) planning to buy new or used cars for themselves or others in 2008, according to research from BMW Financial Services, this year will see an astonishing 8.6 million car purchases.

Showrooms across the UK are facing an unpredicted surplus of around 400,000 2007 models which they have to shift

After stocking up early on new '08 styles, insiders say that the biggest stockpile in a decade is creating an unprecedented bidding war between dealerships. Keen to get rid of stock, dealers are forced to enter the January sales market with every other retailer.

This is great news for anyone in the market for a new car as they can now expect huge discounts on the list price of most models from Ford Fiestas to Ferraris.

Some of the expected discounts include:

■ Suzuki Swift Hatchback 1.3 Gl 5dr reduced from £8,383 to £6,863

■ Citroen C4 Picasso Diesel Estate 1.6 hdi 16v LX 5dr reduced from £16,300 to £13,500

■ Fiat Multipla Diesel Estate 1.9 Multijet Dynamic plus 5dr reduced from £17,310 to £13,995

■ Land Rover Discovery Diesel SW 2.7 Td V6 HSE 5dr Auto reduced from £44,885 to £40,442

■ Audi R8 Coupe 4.2 Fsi Quattro 2dr R Tronic reduced from £82,025 to £81,525.

Chris Walkinshaw, business development director of Marshall's, said: "We have some strong consumer offers out there and there'll be more to come over the course of the next few days and weeks."

Kevin Driscoll, general manager at EMG Motor Group, said: "With seven franchises on the site there's deals to be had across the board, with up to £6,000 off the usual prices, in particular on the Mazda range. We have up to £4,000 off the new Mazda6 – for pre-registered and brand new models including estates and hatchbacks in diesel or petrol mode. The RX-8 is down to £18,999 – nearly £6,000 off – or you pay normal price with 0 per cent finance and nil deposit over three years."

"The Fiat 500 is now in the showroom prior to the official launch on January 21, and we're the cheapest dealership in the country for the Kia Sorento and Sedona, with up to £4,500 off. The £15,000 price tag has drawn people here from all over the country!"

Clive Sutton, CEO of the online new car market place Motorati.co.uk that enables dealers to offer vehicles competitively to meet specific vehicle requests by consumers, commented: "This time of year sees car dealers being severely pressurised by manufacturers to take on next year's models, despite still having their current stock to sell. With the stress of shifting all the current stock before they can begin to work towards next year's sales targets, these current year vehicles need to be sold fast – even if it means at rock-bottom prices."

"Even cars such as the Audi R8 are being discounted – it's a great time to buy."

MOTORING

Prices for the diesel model of the Mazda2 are announced

PRICES for the Mazda2 diesel range of five-door hatchbacks, which will go on sale next March, have been confirmed and will start from £9,499.

Two equipment levels (TS and TS2) will be available each with the excellent level of standard equipment already featured on the Mazda2 petrol models.

New Mazda2 diesel models share the same stylish design features of the petrols that let the small car stand out from the crowd. Both TS and TS2 models will be powered by a newly developed MZ-CD 1.4-litre common-rail turbo diesel engine.

This four cylinder unit is similar to the engine of the outgoing model, but more fuel efficient and with reduced operating costs. It produces 66bhp at 4,000rpm and maximum torque of 118lb ft at a low 2,000rpm for quick throttle response while the gearbox has been retuned to make the most of the diesel engine's characteristics.

"The new Mazda2 diesel has all the attractive and dramatic styling of the petrol models, and offers customers increased fuel economy, reduced CO2 impact and ultra-low road tax of £35 per year," comments Mazda UK's marketing director Mark Cameron.

"It is going to deliver an entertaining driving experience coupled with Mazda's renowned build-quality and reliability."

With generous equipment, good looks, a high mpg figure and low emissions levels, the diesel Mazda2 is likely to prove a hit with customers. Contact EMG Mazda on (01223) 472000 or visit www.emgmotorgroup.com for more information.

Keep yourself Cool and Comfortable AIR CON ...

Your Air Conditioning system does an excellent job keeping the interior of your vehicle at optimum temperature, the inside of your windows moisture and grease free and the air flow cool. It also cleans the air that circulates in your vehicle and removes odours.

The safest temperature to drive in is approximately 20 - 23°C. Your Air Conditioning system ensures that your cabin temperature stays at this level. To ensure it is working to its full potential and performing correctly, the Air Conditioning system requires a small amount of maintenance each year.

We recommend having your Air Conditioning system checked once a year. This is at a very reasonable charge, and can prevent costly repairs in the future.

DARTS: LAKESIDE WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP

SPEEDWAY

Phillips turns screw to rock Greatbatch

THE clinical finishing of Welshman Martin Phillips ended Shaun Greatbatch's dreams of glory in the Lakeside World Darts Championship on Sunday.

Wales skipper Phillips despatched his Lakenheath-based opponent 3-1 with a display that featured three 180s, 12 and 13-dart legs as well as a 161 finish, the best in the early stages of the tournament.

However, it could have been so different if Greatbatch, the No 13 seed for the second successive year, had managed to nail a 140 check-out – he narrowly missed double 10 – in the first leg of the match.

Phillips took the first set 3-1, Greatbatch blasted back to take the second 3-1 before the Welshman, sparked by his 161 finish, charged through the third.

Phillips, who played mixed pairs with Greatbatch's mother, Sandra, took the opening leg of the fourth set against the throw and then added the second before Greatbatch, the Newmarket Snooker and Bowl ace, pulled one back, eventually finishing on double four after nine attempts to get out.

However, Phillips hit double 20 to book a second-round clash against another Cambridgeshire player, defending champion Martin Adams.

Greatbatch said: "I was happy with the way I played – some even said that was the best I've played in the first round – but Martin was relentless. He played well."

■ SHAUN GREATBATCH . . . first-round exit against the "relentless" Martin Phillips.

Rogers ready to net Tigers' top targets

MILDENHALL are closing in on their two heat leader stars for next season.

Team manager Laurence Rogers is keeping their identities under wraps, but has revealed he is in advanced negotiations with two riders to spearhead the Fen Tigers.

Rogers was recommended one of the riders by last season's Canadian star Kyle Legault, who has joined Birmingham, and believes their arrivals would delight supporters.

Two further names that are out of the equation are former GB internationals Andy Smith and Paul Thorp, both of whom have been linked to West Row as they search for a team berth.

Rogers said: "I have spoken to both Andy and Paul and discussed the possibilities of them joining Mildenhall."

"Andy will still not be fit at the start of the season after suffering a knee injury last year, but would have been a good potential heat leader."

"I have known Paul since he started in the sport, but he is looking for a team spot near his home in Cheshire, which rules him out."

"Both riders have excellent pedigrees – Andy has been in the Grand Prix series and Paul was a top international rider. This shows the calibre of riders we are considering and we are covering so many avenues."

"There are a lot of riders who are still available and, despite working to a budget that will not bankrupt the club, we are in the market for some good riders."

"Should we complete the signings of the two heat leaders, it will make things easier in building the rest of the team with a fair amount of points left to use."

Mildenhall have fallen behind in the close season team-building race with only three riders confirmed. The club has 10 weeks until the Premier League campaign starts.

FOOTBALL

FA's strategy plan plea

CAMBRIDGESHIRE FA is looking for help from across the county to put together its new 'Your game, your future – Game Plan 2012' football strategy.

The plan aims to set out what the sport's grassroots will be like in four years and provide a road map for getting there.

But first, the local FA needs input from as many people, involved in the game in any capacity, as possible.

The first step in building the strategy will be a survey which will be available to complete on-line or on paper. This will be followed up by a 'Consultation and Celebration' occasion in February at the football clubs in Wisbech, Ely and Histon.

All three events will give people the chance to give their views about the future of the game as well as celebrate everything that has been achieved recently – and there will be a mystery celebrity guest to lead the proceedings. FA county development manager Jim Hill said: "We really need the help of people involved in football at all levels across the county to create the vision for the future of our game."

"The FA doesn't want to lay down the goals and ask everyone to follow them, we want them to set the goals for us to follow.

"We've already achieved great things in Cambridgeshire over the last few years – we have more people of all ages and backgrounds involved than ever before and we want to build on this and take it to a new level."

"But to do that we need people to get involved, and this consultation is a great chance to do so."

Anyone submitting a completed survey questionnaire will be entered for a prize draw with a chance to win two tickets to a World Cup qualifying match at Wembley, including hospitality at the FA Club.

The questionnaire is open to everyone, but the consultation and celebration events are by invitation only because of the restrictions of venue sizes. ■ MICHAEL REEVES . . . hit the post with a late penalty attempt after scoring try.

South-woe again

LEADERS Newmarket felt the force of Southwold for the second time this season. Martin Hughes' side saw their unbeaten start to the campaign ended by the Suffolk side in November, and they were on the receiving end again in the top-of-the-table clash.

Michael Reeves' try and skipper Hughes' conversion put the away side's points on the board in the first half when they trailed 10-7 at the break.

Reeves traded penalties with Southwold in the second half, before he hit the post with a penalty attempt which would have levelled the scores with five minutes remaining.

Hughes said: "A 13-all draw would have been a fair result at the end of the day."

"It was a cracking game, but they just had the upper hand in the forwards and kept it tight. They had a better game plan."

FOOTBALL: RIDGEONS LEAGUE AND CAMBS INVITATION CUP

Jockeys sink to bottom after late blow

Histon res 5 Newmarket 4

RIDGEONS LEAGUE, PREMIER DIVISION

NEWMARKET managed to fight back from 4-1 down to equalise at 4-4 with relegation rivals Histon reserves only to be floored by a last-minute winner.

Histon looked to be cruising at half time with a 3-0 lead thanks to two goals from Chris Dillon and one from 16-year-old Tyler Campbell.

Although Stuart Claydon pulled one back within minutes of the restart Dillon completed his hat-trick to make it 4-1.

But somehow, Newmarket fought back to level terms with two goals from Alex Watson – one a penalty after Histon keeper Ben Stone took out Claydon in the area – before Claydon fired equaliser.

But Neil Andrews, in his first game back from operations on both ankles before Christmas, scrambled the winner on 89 minutes to send Histon leap-frogging over Newmarket, who are back on the bottom of the table.

Newmarket boss Karl Johnson said: "It was just one of those games. They out-played us in the first half. We had a lack of effort and momentum, but I couldn't have asked more from my players than what they gave me in the second half."

And things will not get any easier for the Jockeys this weekend. They go to title hopefuls Soham Town Rangers for their fourth derby in the last five league games.

They have also lost Ben Mhishi, who has returned to Fulbourn, while Owen Paynter is pondering a move to another Premier Division side.

■ MATTY ROBINSON ... scored one, set up the other and hit the bar.

That was a kit of all right, insists Pinky

King's Lynn res 0 Mildenhall 2

RIDGEONS LEAGUE, PREMIER DIVISION

MILDENHALL joint-manager Dave Pinkowski was so excited by what he felt was his team's best overall performance that he left the kit behind.

It did not look as if it was going to be the visitors' day when Matty Robinson hit the bar early in the second half with an attempted chip.

However, Mildenhall were awarded a penalty on 65 minutes when John Sands' header from a Robinson cross was handled and Robinson fired the spot kick home.

Robinson then set Sands up for the second to kill the game off on 85 minutes.

Pinkowski said: "We played really well and everyone did their job. We've had some good results since coming in, but this was the best we have played as a team."

"I have said since Tony and I took over that it is not individuals that win games but the team, and that is what Saturday was all about. But not everything was perfect because I left the kit behind!"

'Hall will be looking to remain in touch with the top three with a win against Walsham-le-Willows when they come to Recreation Way on Saturday.

after cup spree

■ STUART CLAYDON ... two goals.

Wisbech 0 Newmarket 5

CAMBS INVITATION CUP, QUARTER-FINAL

KARL Johnson was delighted to see Newmarket finally click.

The Jockeys' boss felt it was only a matter of time before someone suffered at their hands. And Wisbech were the victims as two goals from Dalton O'Brian and Stuart Claydon and one from David Grainger gave them a comfortable victory on Tuesday.

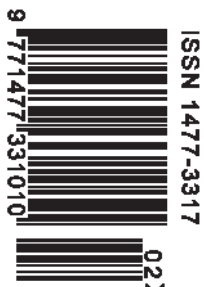

Johnson said: "We played some really good football, it was a performance we've been threatening to put in."

Mildenhall 2 March 0 (aet)

CAMBS INVITATION CUP, QUARTER-FINAL

MILDENHALL saw off March after extra time thanks to a Jon Sands strike and an Andrew Claydon penalty.

Nothing could separate the sides in 90 minutes, but Tony Lyes and Dave Pinkowski's charges showed their class to book their place in the semi-finals.
